mysqli_query function:

This function is used to run SQL queries in PHP. The function takes two parameters.

1. Connection variable.
2. Variable in which SQL query is stored.

This function will return the data depending upon the SQL query. This will contain data if SELECT query is executed. It will contain boolean variable indicating TRUE (query successfully executed)or FALSE (error in executing the query).